Thoughts from the Second Floor Front XVIII Sunday in Ordinary Time

August 4, 2019

You really should think twice before reading from the Book of Ecclesiastes if you are having a bad day. Qoheleth is a word that means “assembler” or “collector” - one who is gathering listeners and wisdom sayings. The book is composed of an almost unrelenting and remorseless skepticism and pessimism about life. Nihil novus sub solis – quotes Qoheleth – there is nothing new under the sun. All is vanity. This was a popular theme struck by a popular Dominican Friar, Girolamo Savonarola, in Florence in the latter half of the 15th century. He preached a message of severity which included the conflagratio vanitati – the burning or the bonfire of the vanities. He encouraged the faithful to destroy their works of art, fine clothing as well as household goods and decorations. He was very popular in Florence until the Florentines got tired of him and his fiery message – and then they burnt him. His story is a wee bit more complicated than that, but it is not much more uplifting than old Qoheleth.

Both the ancient passage from the Wisdom tradition of Israel and the gospel proclamation are in line with St. Paul’s admonition to the members of the Church Community in Colossae: “If you were raised with Christ, seek what is above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Think of what is above, not of what is on earth.” While Qoheleth condemns the foolishness of expending all sorts of energy laboring over things only to possess them, and upon leaving this life, necessarily leaving them to someone who put no effort in at all.

Have you ever seen the Stanford Marshmallow Test? In the early 1960’s a psychologist from Stanford university devised a simple test for children. A child is seated in a small room with a table, on which is placed a marshmallow. The child is told that he or she can eat the marshmallow at any time but if he or she waits 15 minutes, a second marshmallow will be given. It is engaging, and at the same time comical, to see how the children respond to this challenge; the child and the marshmallow all alone. In subsequent studies it was discovered that the children who were able to delay gratification usually achieved “better life outcomes” such as higher SAT score, academic achievement and general health. Further research, as it always does, honed the findings to include other causality; but the ability to delay gratification remained significant.

Both the reading from Ecclesiastes and Luke touch on a lack of gratification – delayed or otherwise. For the unnamed character in the gospel, nothing seemed to be enough. He needed more barns, more grain, more wealth. Driven by an evidently insatiable desire for stuff, when the end, his end, arrived, how did all that stuff help? Qoheleth correctly instructs his readers that at the end of the day, things do not matter much at all. Jesus wants us to guard against greed because our lives are more than our things.

The Medieval Morality Play Everyman makes this point. The play begins with the figure of Death, robed in black, carrying a scythe or an hourglass, appearing on stage and beckoning Everyman to come to him. The main character E-man is more than a wee bit rattled. He asks Death if he can bring a companion for the journey. Death laughs at the idea but (for the sake of the moral lesson and dramatic license) permits it. E-man first asks his friends; they initially gladly join him. But when they discover where they will be going and how the road trip will end, they refuse. He asks others: Strength, Humor, Intellect, Wealth, they all fade. He finally finds a companion. In some versions or presentations, the companion varies: Good Works, Faith or Virtue.

The lesson is clear; placing an inordinate value on wealth and things is really of no value as they will ultimately prove inconsequential. What remains, what is consequential, is our attitude towards those entities and how we use our wealth and our things while we can. Remember the admonition from Paul: Think of what is above, not of what is on earth.

Faithfully,

Msgr. Diamond

NUTRITIONAL DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

I think it is hard for some families to make ends meet. Because of sickness or lack of education, some people can't get out and work. By the end of the month there are emergencies, so the food bank here at St. Helena's is supposed to fill that gap to help make things stretch. Our population is pretty diverse. There are a lot of seniors who utilize the food bank because they are caregivers for their grandchildren. I'm a nurse, so the food bank involves a sense of nutrition. Food can mean health, so we usually encourage the attendees when they are selecting food to be careful of their health needs. As a nurse, it's important for me to incorporate nutrition information and to not only give food to these people, but to feed their minds and encourage them to do better for themselves. I know Catholic Charities does a multitude of things. But feeding people is one of the most important and basic things. It gives parents and grandparents a sense of dignity to be able to provide for their family. There's nothing worse than having someone in your family that wants something to eat and you're not able to provide for them. So I think the CCA feeding people is important, not only physically, but emotionally and spiritually. Because when people gather around and share a prepared meal, something amazing happens. We're a beacon of hope for these people.

Sister Anna Marie, Manager, St. Helena's Food Pantry

EVERY DAY, HUNDREDS OF HOUSEHOLDS RECEIVE FOOD, RENT AND UTILITY ASSISTANCE, CLOTHING, DIAPERS AND PARENTING SUPPORT. WITHOUT THE CATHOLIC CHARITIES APPEAL DONATIONS, THIS WOULD NOT BE POSSIBLE.

Welcome
Rev. Paul Frechette, S.M.
August 17 & 18

The weekend of August 17th and 18th we will be joined by Rev. Paul Frechette, S.M. (The Society of Mary, commonly referred to as the Marist Fathers and Brothers). Since its official recognition by the Church in 1836, the Society of Mary (Marist Fathers and Brothers) has committed itself to the mission in the southwestern Pacific. Since that time, the Marists have expanded into areas in Africa, Asia and South America. Today there are nearly 230 priests and brothers working in “bush stations”, teaching in schools and seminaries, ministering in training institutions, providing direct service to the poor, oppressed and marginalized, and contributing to the development of people for a better society and a strong local Church. Contributions to the Marists will help them in their mission of witness to the Gospel, service to the needy and helping the local Church to build a strong base for its promising future.

Marists are very much aware of the fact that “there is a gigantic task still to be accomplished, because the Gospel message has not yet been heard, or scarcely so” (Decree on the Missions, Vatican II) by many people. They hope that their efforts may be a real and effective contribution to the missionary task of the Church. We can help the Marist Priests and Brothers through our generous donations. Thank you for whatever you can do to help them in their life-long commitment and work.

Volunteers are needed for all the Masses, especially the 9 and 11, to help meet and greet, help hand out hymnals, hand out bulletins after Mass, collect the hymnals and help with the collection.

Please consider volunteering – does not have to be every week – we can work out a schedule.

Training is provided “on-the-job”.

Please call the PLC (610) 459-2502 and leave your name, phone number and email, if you have one.

St. Lawrence Feast Day: August 10

One of seven Roman deacons, Lawrence distributed alms to the poor. The deacons and Pope Sixtus II were arrested Aug. 6, 258, during the persecution of Valerian. All but Lawrence were martyred by the next day. When Rome's prefect demanded church funds from Lawrence, the deacon assembled the poor and said, "This is the treasury of the church." On August 10, the prefect began roasting Lawrence on a gridiron, thinking it would break him. But, according to legend, he asked to be turned and roasted on the other side.
